NEW BRUNSWICK HEARD FROM AGAIN

ANOTHER SPLENDID CURE BY DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS

Mr. Ben Gauvang had Backache so bad he had to quit work.—Dodd's Kidney Pills fixed him up.

Puellerling Settlement, Kent Co., N. B. (Special).—Every corner of New Brunswick tells of cures made by Dodd's Kidney Pills, and this settlement can contribute its share. Mr. Ben Gauvang is one man who without hesitation states that he owes his good health to the great Canadian Kidney remedy.

"Yes, Dodd's Kidney Pills certainly did me good," Mr. Gauvang says in an interview. "Before I started taking them my back ached so that I had to give up work and I also had to be careful how I walked and moved about. I took nine boxes, all told, and they fixed me up. They are the best medicine for all diseases of the kidneys."

Dodd's Kidney Pills are no cure-all. They only cure kidneys. But they always cure the kidneys and with cured kidneys you can't have backaches, rheumatism, Bright's disease, diabetes or dropsy.

Miss Clifton.—Yes, she was furious about the way in which that paper reported her marriage.

Miss Avondale.—Did it allude to her age?

Miss Clifton.—Indirectly. It stated that Miss Olde and Mr. Yale were married, the latter being a well-known collector of antiques.

You will sneeze; perhaps feel chilly. You think you are catching cold. Don't wait until you know it. Take a dose of Hamlin's Wizard Oil and you just can't catch cold.

Miss Pruyn.—Indeed! By whom were they employed?

When the people talk of "the good things of life," queerly enough they do not mean the best things. They are using a deceptive phrase. The wise man or woman will never let the good things stand in the way of reaching higher and better things. Only ignorance does that.

It is Criminal to Neglect the Skin and Hair

THINK of the suffering entailed by neglected skin troubles—mental because of disfigurement, physical because of pain. Think of the pleasure of a clear skin, soft, white hands, and good hair. These blessings, so essential to happiness and even success in life, are often only a matter of a little thoughtful care in the selection of effective remedial agents. Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment do so much for poor complexions, red, rough hands, and dry, thin and falling hair, and cost so little, that it is almost criminal not to use them.

Although Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold by druggists and dealers everywhere, a postal to "Cuticura," Dept. 5M, Boston, U.S.A., will secure a liberal sample of each, with 32-page booklet on Skin and Scalp Treatment.

PRINCE TO VISIT BERLIN

He Will be the Guest of Emperor William and Will Receive Special Honors.

It is expected that the Prince of Wales will pay a visit to Berlin shortly after his eighteenth birthday in June next, and that he will stay for a week with the Emperor and Empress. The Kaiser was extremely anxious to have the prince visit him a short time ago, but Queen Mary then held that her son was too young and that it would be better to wait for another year or so. While the prince is in the German capital he will be admitted as a Knight of the Black Eagle. This order ranks third in importance among European decorations, being only surpassed by the Garter and the Golden Fleece of Spain. The last named distinction, by the way, is also likely to be bestowed upon the Prince of Wales by King Alfonso during the course of next year. The visit to Berlin will be in state and entertainments in honor of the young prince will be arranged for every day, terminating with a review of the troops in the garrison, specially strengthened for the occasion. Before this review takes place the Kaiser proposes to create the prince a colonel of one of the regiments on parade.

A Standard Medicine.—Parnellee's Vegetable Pills, compounded of entirely vegetable substances known to have a revivifying and salutary effect upon the digestive organs, have through years of use attained so eminent a position that they rank as a standard medicine. The ailing should remember this. Simple in their composition, they can be assimilated by the weakest stomach and are certain to have a healthful and agreeable effect on the sluggish digestive organs.

WOULD NOT BE WITHOUT BABY'S OWN TABLETS

Mothers who have once used Baby's Own Tablets for their little ones always keep them in the house. They realize the value of the Tablets in banishing baby's illness when it comes, or better still, in warding off illness by giving him an occasional dose of the Tablets to keep his stomach and bowels regular. Concerning them Mrs. Isaac McDonald, Nappan Station, writes:—"I have used Baby's Own Tablets and would not now be without them as they are the very best medicine I know of for little ones." The Tablets are sold at 25 cents a box by medicine dealers or by mail from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

"George!"

"Yes, dear?"

"Before we were married you once asked me if I enjoyed a brass band."

"Yes, perhaps I did."

"You did, and I said yes; but it seems I misunderstood you, George. My wedding ring is making a black mark on my finger."

Small But Potent.—Parnellee's Vegetable Pills are small, but they are effective in action. Their fine qualities as a corrector of stomach troubles are known to thousands and they are in constant demand everywhere by those who know what a simple and safe remedy they are. They need no introduction to those acquainted with them, but to those who may not know them they are presented as the best preparation on the market for disorders of the stomach.

THE CHAMPION DISC HARROW

HAS THE GOOD POINTS THAT MAKE AN IMPLEMENT RELIABLE

Two independent sections, each operated by a lever, making a flexible harrow. Each section has a heavy washer or bumper to take the end thrust.

Bearings are cast boxes fitted with oil-soaked maple bushings. Entirely dustproof, lubricated by pipe oiler.

The steel bars supporting the frame are strong and heavy, plenty of room between disc and weight box.

We can supply either a tongue or tongueless disc harrow. The Tongueless disc Harrow is fitted with truck only, as shown in cut. Either style of Disc Harrow is fitted with a comfortable spring seat; levers handy to operate.

Truck has 16-inch strong steel wheels, and 1 1/2-inch axle. Frame is of strong malleable steel, and is adjustable. Clevis has three adjustments.

41 A 268, 16-Disc Harrow, 8-foot cut, with 4-horse evener.....	500-lbs.	33.00	40.00

There are certain good points that every Farm Implement must possess before it can be called reliable. But if it has these essential features it can be depended upon to do good work. The farmer may safely consider the purchase of an implement, when it is offered by a firm of unquestioned reliability, and sold subject to a trial test. The fact that it is sold at a lower price is no reflection on its value. Price does not guarantee value.

If you think these are reasonable arguments, and if you need a new Disc Harrow this spring, it will pay you to write to Eaton's. By return mail they will tell you the exact cost of any style after freight charges have been taken into account.

THE EATON GUARANTEE

Every farmer who orders an EATON Implement is asked to test it on his own farm for ten days. If it does not satisfy him, after test, he can return it and get his money back in full, with all freight charges as well. If after testing it he decides to keep the implement, EATON'S will guarantee him against any possibility of loss through faulty construction or material. If anything breaks because it was not made right or not put together right, EATON'S will supply a new part free of charge.

BOWDEN, ALTA. FEB. 8. 1912

Every member of a community and every parent especially should take a deep interest in the public school. It is not enough to pay your school tax without complaining, or to know that the teachers are qualified, nor is it even enough to keep your children in school regularly. If you are really interested in the subject as you should be, you should visit the school regularly and persistently every Friday

The Budget

The Budget is generally regarded as one of the big events of the Session. It is the occasion for the Provincial Treasurer to review the financial history of the year that is past; to indicate in a general way the various items of expenditure and to outline for the coming year the sources of revenue and the amount of money required for the public service for the coming year.

It is the occasion when the Opposition, or any member of the Legislature has his greatest opportunity for criticizing the financial and administrative policy of the Government.

Premier Sifton brought down the Budget for 1912 last Friday. It was the really first opportunity that the present Provincial Treasurer has had of reviewing the financial affairs of the Province since he has taken office. His statement was distinguished by clearness and comprehensiveness. Quoting from the return that he had prepared he showed that the Province has assets to the value of $7,753,000 and liabilities of $7,293,000, leaving a surplus of assets over liabilities of $440,000. This is exclusive of the Telephone Department which paid a surplus last year of over $92,000 and since the system has been taken over by the Province, has produced a total surplus of $175,000. The assets of the Province, briefly stated, include the public buildings the University, permanent bridges demonstration farms, and loans to creameries. The total estimated expenditure for the coming year is 5,736,000. The total revenue 6,283,000, leaving an estimated surplus for the coming year of 546,000.

In looking over the estimates for the coming year one is impressed by their liberality. They provide for a technical expenditure of over 10,000,000, and involve liberal dealing with respect to the public work of the Province. The amount to be spent in public works is 2,817,000, 450,000 of which is chargeable to income. The balance is charged to Capital, and includes such expenditures as 1,000,000 for trunk roads; 305,000 for the Court Houses at Edmonton and Calgary; 225,000 for large permanent bridges; 40,000 for Agricultural schools. It is the intention of the Government to establish, in connection with the demonstration farms, agricultural schools to satisfy the need there is at the present time for technical education for the farmers.

Special mention should be made of the administration of the telephone system 4,000,000 will be spent for new construction in 1912 and 610,000 will be required for the operation and maintenance of this utility. The administration of the of this utility in Alberta is unique. It has been successful from the first year it has not only paid the expenses of keeping it up and of operating it, but it has gone on increasing and although large amounts to have been spent on it, and the system extended into many settlements where it is not remunerative yet it has produced a surplus in five years of over 175,000. This surplus practically takes the place of a sinking fund, although the Premier stated that the surplus would be used in improving and extending the system.

The amount requisite for Education, the Administration of Justice and Agriculture, are commensurate with the requirements of the Province, and none of these services will be starved by the present Government.

Taking everything into consideration the 10,000,000 budget is hopeful and optimistic of the future of this Province, and reflects the faith of the men entrusted with its administration. It is the first time in our history that we have engaged to spend so much, but development is so rapid and settlers are flocking into the country in such numbers that when the year is over, it will be found that even the liberal budget of 1912 was a very unextravagant one.

The criticism of Mr. Michener was urging a greater expenditure and increase in the number of ministers for the different departments. This attitude was even more pronounced when the House went into Committee on Supply. Very few of the items were criticized for being too small, and it may be regarded as unusual luck that the Government are not charged as is usual by Oppositions, with undue extravagance.

The editor of this paper has a warm place in his heart for the friends who bring or send in news items. It is the desire of this paper to give all the news all the time and those who lend us their assistance to that end have our unbounded gratitude.

Mr. F. E. Smith, K. C., M. P. tells a story of a County Court case he was once engaged in, in which the plaintiff's son, a lad of eight years, was to appear as a witness. When the youngster entered the box he wore boots several sizes too large, a hat almost hid his face long trousers rolled up so that the baggy knees were at his ankles, and, to complete the picture, a swallow-tail coat that had to be held to keep it from sweeping the floor. This ludicrous picture was too much for the court, but the judge, between his spasms of laughter, managed to ask the boy his reason for appearing in such garb. With wondering look; the boy fished in an inner pocket and hauled the summons from it, pointing out a sentence with solemn mien as he did so, "To appear in his father's suit," it read.

CHAPTER VI
"Vengeance is Mine"

"It is a lie, a lie!"
Strong words for a lady; but she had left him on them, walking swiftly away, and holding up a warning hand, as though commanding him not to follow her.

Harry stared for a few moments after her retreating figure with wonder and wistfulness in his eyes. At the turn in the road, which shone white in the moonlight, she disappeared, and he stood alone for a little while, reflecting.

In spite of his secret passion for romance, he was level-headed and sensible in ordinary matters; he told himself now that in a place so small as Crayborne he would have little difficulty in finding out all there was to learn about a woman of so striking an appearance, who had lived there for thirteen years.

It was by this time ten o'clock. He heard the hour peal out from a square-towered church which was raised on a hill a little ahead of him. In the village a dog was barking, possibly at his approach, for there seemed nothing else to disturb it in Crayborne.

The lady of the wood had described it accurately. There was a few dozen houses, some with white-washed walls and thatched roofs, others with new brick fronts under red tiles, and windows in which stationery, provisions and clothing were indiscriminately exposed for sale; then came a picturesque block of the old inn stables, and facing them the new "Royal Hotel," which, as Harry had to learn later, had for very many years been called "The Clavel Arms," but which was now renamed and rendered hideous with new bricks, modern windows and a flaunting bar.

Nevertheless, Harry had no choice but to enter. Lights were still burning, and men's voices came from the tap-room. He passed through the garden into what was called the hotel entrance, and was met by a pleasant-faced young woman, who was the landlord's wife, and to whom he appealed for a room for the night.

Her husband was a German and named Gutenberg; they had occupied the hotel four years—"ever since" it was improved," Mrs. Gutenberg told him. She certainly was not the woman from whom to learn legends and stories, but before he retired for the night there was one question which Harry felt constrained to ask.

"As I came from Bloxham," he said, "asked the way of a very tall, fair-headed lady in a cloak with a hood, who said she lived in the neighborhood. Who was she, do you know?"

"There's only one tall lady, who walks about alone at night here," the woman answered in a lowered voice which held an accent of awe. "It must have been Lady Anne Daubeney."

Leopold Sarto's "tall white garden lily," who "moved to the music of her lovely thoughts," and whose voice was like the ripple of a hidden wood stream among ferns.

The words had sounded fantastic, but now that Harry had spoken with and seen Lady Anne Daubeney in the flesh, no praises seemed extravagant. The very aloofness and mystery of her appealed irresistibly to a man of imagination; for although she had spoken to him as a stranger with comparative cordiality, there was nothing in her manner of the bright camaraderie which had distinguished the conversation of the pretty English actress, Lily Warren.

Yet until tonight he had never met a woman who had impressed him so greatly as Miss Warren. He cherished an affectionate sympathy and admiration for her, although he had met her but once; her dainty, coquettish prettiness pleased him as much as did her sprightly wit. He felt certain she was unselfish, brave, and full of heart and intelligence, and he fervently hoped and believed he would meet her again.

But the woman tonight was different.

Who and what was she?

He felt so desperately anxious to know that he could hardly sleep. In one respect, these two women, so utterly

PURIFIED HIS BLOOD

Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills
Healed Mr. Wilson's Sores

When the sewers of the body—bowels, kidneys and skin ducts—get clogged up, the blood quickly becomes impure and frequently sores break out over the body. The way to heal them, as Mr. Richard Wilson, who lives near London, Ont., found, is to purify the blood. He writes:

"For some time I had been in a low, depressed condition. My appetite left me and I soon began to suffer from indigestion. Quite a number of small sores and blotches formed all over my skin. I tried medicine for the blood and used many kinds of ointments, but without satisfactory results. What was wanted was a thorough cleansing of the blood and I looked about in vain for some medicine that would accomplish this.

At last Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills were brought to my notice, and they are one of the most wonderful medicines I have ever known. My blood was purified in a very short time, sores healed up, my indigestion vanished. They always have a place in my home and are looked upon as the family remedy."

Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills cleanse the system thoroughly. Sold by all dealers at 25c a box.

terly unlike, resembled each other. They had both expressed, in words which were almost identical, their special horror of the name of Clavel, which was his own.

Almost strangers to him as they were, they had refused to believe he could be a member of the family. Lady Anne had even grown fierce and insulting on the subject, as though it were a personal offense to her for him to lay claim to the name.

Could it be true, as Sarto had suggested, that such a queen among women had stooped to love a man "without heart or conscience, a spendrift, a Don Juan, a rotten branch of a mad, bad stock?"

Those were the words Sarto had used in speaking of the man he called "the last of the Clavels"; and through his villany he declared that Lady Anne was a broken lily now.

To Harry she seemed nothing of the kind. Very sad her words had been. She had spoke of living among ghosts and fearing the sunlight; yet there was an indomitable pride about her, a spirit and a grace in her carriage, and a light that was far removed from hopelessness in her brilliant blue eyes.

Harry had fallen in love with her. He recognised the fact as well as he did her complete indifference to him. The romantic thought crept into his mind that it might come to him, who was really the last Clavel, to atone for any suffering caused to this lovely woman by that Clavel whose name she had grown to detest.

All night, in his dreams, he was fighting her battles against mysterious unseen foes; but when the moment of success came she invariably eluded him, and he found in her place hazel-eyed Lily Warren, who spurned him as a Clavel and therefore unfit to live.

At six o'clock he awoke from these disquieting fancies, and, after dressing, descended the stairs and informed a sleepy-eyed maid, who was brushing out the tawdry and uninviting inn parlor, that he would be back to breakfast at half-past eight.

"Before then," he told himself as he let himself out of the little garden, "I ought to have lighted on a clue to some of these hidden things."

First of all he bent his steps towards the church, which he guessed to be very old and very much restored. Unfortunately for his researches, he found it locked up, as Protestant churches almost invariably are in the country in England. It was built upon a little hill, and surrounded by a graveyard, in which the long grass swept over the lowlier tombs, leaving only the large stone and marble erections visible.

Standing just below the chief entrance, a porch under a fine early Norman arch, Harry's eyes commanded a good view of the immediately surrounding country, and the peace and charm of it sank with delight into his soul.

The village was indeed small and uninteresting; but beyond and around meadow land stretched for many miles, intersected by a narrow stream, which shone like a white ribbon in the clear morning sunlight as it wound in and out of the lush richness of the verdure. The railway line, sunk between high banks, was hardly visible from this point, and not very far from the station Harry's eyes were attracted by a massive pile of buildings of that mellow color peculiar to the south of England, a tint produced by the soft climate, by mosses and lichen growths, and by the passing of many, many years upon red-brick walls and red-tiled roofs.

The buildings stood not far from a low-arched bridge of grey stone over the river, and clumps of massive beech and oak trees grew round about it. Harry could hardly tear his eyes from the spot, and resolved to make the place the next point in his pilgrimage.

Some instinct told him that this was the "manor house in Crayborne," the "run-down manor house by a sluggish stream" of which Lady Anne had told him, and at which the Clavels had lived until they built for themselves Lyllyngton Court some three hundred years ago.

He could almost feel the certainty in his bones. Church, manor house, and all the country around seemed familiar to him, like places he had visited in dreams. He told himself, smiling, that the memories of his ancestors stirred within him, and in spite of the singular warnings he had received he felt glad to think he belonged to this Norman stock, who had lived so long in this beautiful and peaceful corner of the world.

Suddenly, as he turned to walk from the church yard with his feeling of elation still upon him, he received a rude shock.

Facing him, as he took a short-cut across the grass, stood an imposing monument of black marble. In form it was a monolith, and set in the lower portion was a white marble bas-relief showing the head in profile of a young man. Beneath his head, cut very deeply in large letters, ran the following inscription:—

"In memory of Lucian Warne, aged twenty-two years, who was murdered at the altar of this church by Roger Clavel on the twenty-sixth of June."

Then followed the date, exactly seven years back, and, lower, the terrible line:—

"Vengeance is Mine; I will repay, saith the Lord."

For some minutes Harry remained staring at the tomb. Under the bright morning sunshine, amid the peaceful rural surroundings, the memorial to dead crime and living bitterness struck a harshly discordant note. Harry was lost in wonderment that such an inscription should have been permitted. Even, as the last Clavel, he felt a personal resentment against the man who had caused it to be made. But, presently, as he moved a few steps away, feeling depressed and bewildered, a smaller, humbler tomb caught his attention by the singularity of the epitaph carved upon it.

"In memory of James Collet, of the Dorsetshire police force, who was killed while exercising his duty on June thirtieth."

The date of the year was identical with that on the larger monument, and, as Harry still stood examining it, an elderly man, thick-set and red-faced, passed close beside him, bearing a bunch of keys.

"Good-mornen' to you, sir. A queer stone, this'n."

The man, who was, as Harry guessed, the sexton of the church, pronounced the words after the Dorset fashion, as: "a queer stean," and used a "z" for an "s" in "sir."

"It is indeed," Harry returned. And then, as the man lingered, he added:—

"I am a stranger here. Will you tell me the story of it?"

"I will," the sexton answered, his bleary blue eyes brightening. "None better'n me. For I was at the wedding of Lady Anne Daubeney."

"Yes, I saw your card on the piano," was the calm reply.

WIDE SCOPE OF WORK OF TARIFF COMMISSION

Appointment to be Made of a Tariff Commission to Investigate Comparative Cost of Production in Canada and Other Countries

Ottawa, Ont.—Hon. W. T. White has given notice of a resolution fixing the conditions which will govern the appointment of the tariff commission to be named by the Government, and defining the scope of the work which the commission will undertake.

It is as follows:
"That it is expedient to provide for a tariff commission consisting of three members, to be appointed by the governor-in-council, whose duty it shall be:

"1.—To make, under the direction of the minister of finance, in respect of any goods produced in or imported to Canada, inquiry as to—

"(a)—The price and cost of raw material in Canada and elsewhere and the cost of transportation thereof from the place of production to the place of use or consumption.

"(b)—The cost of production in Canada and elsewhere.

"(c)—The cost of transportation from the place of production to the place of use or consumption, whether in Canada or elsewhere.

"(d)—The cost, efficiency and conditions of labor in Canada and elsewhere.

"(e)—The prices received by producers, manufacturers, wholesale dealers, retailers and other distributors in Canada and elsewhere.

"(f)—All conditions and factors which affect or enter into the cost of production and the price to the consumer in Canada.

"(g)—Generally all the conditions affecting production, manufacture, cost and price in Canada as compared with other countries and to report to the minister.

"2.—To make inquiry into any other matter upon which the minister desires information, in relation to any goods which, if brought into Canada or produced in Canada are subject to or exempt from duties of customs, and to report to the minister.

"3.—To hold, when empowered by the governor-in-council, an inquiry under section 12 of the customs tariff of 1907 in the same manner as the judge of the exchequer or any other judge therein referred to may hold inquiry when so empowered.

"4.—To inquire into any other matter or thing in relation to the trade or commerce of Canada which the governor-in-council sees fit to refer to the commission for inquiry and report.

"That the commissioners shall have the power of summoning before them any witness and of requiring them to give evidence on oath or on solemn affirmation and to produce such documents and things as the commissioners may deem requisite to the full investigation of the matters into which they are appointed to examine, with such power in regard to enforcing the attendance of witnesses and compelling witnesses to give evidence as is vested in any court of record in civil cases.

"That there be employed in the service of the commission a secretary and such officers, clerks and employees and persons having technical or special knowledge as may be necessary.

"That the chairman of the commission be paid an annual salary of $7,500, and the other two members an annual salary of $7,000, that the secretary be paid an annual salary to be fixed by the governor-in-council, not exceeding $3,000, and that all salaries and expenses incident to the carrying out of the provisions of any act founded on these resolutions be payable out of any appropriation granted to His Majesty by parliament for the purpose."

STOCKMEN TEAR UP CONTRACT

Revision of Rate Has Not Yet Been Arranged With the Railroads

Ottawa, Ont.—There will not likely be an order by the railway commission in regard to the complaints of the western stockmen, which they heard recently in Ottawa, for several months at least. The present contract between the stockmen and the railroads is being revised and the commission has been requested to hold over any decision until the contract is completed. One contract was presented to the shippers, but was torn to pieces and another will be submitted shortly.

All arrangements have been completed for the Dominion Live Stock Convention, which will be held in Ottawa on February 12 and 13. The programme is of particular interest to the West and a large western delegation is expected to attend. Some two hundred from all over Canada will be present. Among the Western men on the programme are: P. M. Brett, Regina, livestock commissioner of Saskatchewan; W. F. Stevens, livestock commissioner of Alberta, and Dr. F. S. Tolmie, of Victoria, B. C. Andrew Graham, of Pomeroy, Man., will speak on the subject of "Inter-provincial Trade in Pure Bred Cattle." P. J. Phinn, of Moosomin will discuss the question of "Western Beef Cattle," and F. G. Palmer, Edmonton, will discuss the question of the "Chilled Meat Industry."

NEED MORE CATTLE

Veterinary General Resumes His Campaign for More Stock-Raising

Ottawa, Ont.—Dr. Rutherford has resumed his campaign for more stock raising in Canada.

"The latest figures in my possession," he says, point to a very serious falling off in beef production in Canada, which situation is made more grave by the most phenomenal increase in consumption of meat that has taken place in this country within the past few years."

Dr. Rutherford views the present outlook for the livestock industry of Canada with no little alarm. A complexity of difficulties existing in the different agricultural sections of Canada has meant a serious reduction in the production of meat, while the rapid increase in population has led to greater consumption.

A country with the agricultural possibilities and abundance of tillable area Canada may have to face the problem of how to provide meat for her scanty population.

It would appear, therefore, that the situation is indeed serious and getting more so.

German Newspaper Attacks U.S.

Berlin, Germany.—The Vossische Zeitung publishes a violent attack on the "American immigration inquisition" which is alleged to be becoming more cruel and relentless day by day.

The case of Mrs. Pettin Kaull, described as the wife of a New York banker, is cited as a classic example of the practice in vogue on Ellis Island. It is charged that she and her two sons were prevented from rejoining her husband on American soil because the oldest boy wore a glass eye. The latest news is that she still is a prisoner on the island.

The Vossische Zeitung contributor declares that the decrease in the immigration to the United States is due primarily to the reign of terror thronged on Ellis Island, and that thousands of European emigrants who ordinarily disembark at New York, Baltimore and Boston have been diverted to Canada and the Argentine through fear of an inquisition and arbitrary expulsion.

Doctors in Great Britain Protest

London, Eng.—More than 11,000 doctors in Britain, members of the British medical association, have formally condemned the national insurance law, naively explaining that sick benefits under the insurance scheme will hurt their business. A doctor who is an exception is Thomas J. McNamara, who is as well known as a physician as he is as parliamentary secretary to the admiralty. He said:

"The tax upon industry will, I believe, be more than compensated for by the increased efficiency of the workmen, as has been the general experience in Germany, and the scheme will not mean more unemployment, for one of the main causes for unemployment is due to lack of proper medical treatment. The scheme will lift the load of worry from many an anxious brow. It is my firm conviction that 15 or 20 years hence, thanks to national insurance, consumption will be as rare as small-pox is today."

Jap Brains Direct Rebels

London, Eng.—It is generally understood, says the Pekin correspondent of the Daily Telegraph, that Japanese brains are directing the Republican strategy, which are developing North China on the coasts of Shan Tung, and Chi Li. This plan, it is thought, could be carried out successfully because of the rebels' command of the sea and entire absence of any imperial system of coast defence.

Labouchere Left $4,000,000

Florence.—The will of the late Henry Labouchere, editor of London Truth, whose death occurred here on January 16, provided for the appointment of three trustees, including the British home secretary, Reginald McKenna. Mr. Labouchere left a large yearly income to his daughter, the Marchesa Di Rudini, but his fortune, which is estimated at $4,000,000, will eventually be divided among his nephews who bear the name of Labouchere.

HOME RULE BILL

Mass Meetings Opposing Bill Scheduled for English Towns

London, Eng.—Political activity and excitement are increasing all the more rapidly in the United Kingdom now that there is more reason than there was a fortnight ago to fear a general industrial dislocation as a result of a multitude of strikes and lockouts.

Intervention by the Anglican primates of all Ireland against home rule, following on the heels of the Ulster Unionists to prevent John Redmond and Winston Spencer Churchill from addressing a home rule meeting next month in Belfast, has added highly inflammable material to the hottest controversy fires that have burned in the country since Parnell died.

Of all the exhibitions of home rule opposition in the history of the Orange capital, the latest is the most astounding to British Liberals, familiar with what they claim to be the real desires and intentions of Irish leaders.

What the upshot will be cannot be foretold, but the Irish Nationalists declare the projected meeting will be held, even if they have to march a hundred thousand strong to Belfast.

All England will be in the throes of passion in a few days over the Belfast situation. Upward of fifty meetings against home rule are scheduled for this week in Lancashire and Cheshire, and 100,000 persons will be harangued by members of the Unionist party, taking their cue from Sir Edward Carson's New Year message to the Dublin Daily Express.

CONTINUE FIGHT

W. R. Clarke Says Case Will be Taken To Privy Council

Toronto, Ont.—With reference to the refusal of Premier Borden to disallow the confiscatory legislation of the Alberta Government against the Alberta and Great Waterways Railway company, W. R. Clarke, president of the company, who is here consulting his solicitors, said recently:

"The refusal of Premier Borden to disallow the Alberta Government's legislation is disappointing, but not overwhelming. Our position would have been disapproved by disallowance, but is not weakened by the lack of it. We will fight right on until we reach the privy council in England, and if we don't get reimbursement for our settled enterprise there, we will take it up internationally. The rights of our little railway are analogous, and as good as the rights of any railway in Canada, and we will fight for our rights to the finish."

BRITAIN IS WARNED

"With Germany and Japan Its a Ward and a Blow," Says Strategist

London, Eng.—A gloomy prophecy as to the probability of conflicts in the Pacific coast was made by the well-known lecturer on military strategy, T. W. M. Maguire at a meeting of the Royal Colonial Institute.

Mr. Maguire described the Pacific ocean as the "strategic centre of mankind," and warned both the United States and Great Britain that "nothing could give them security but a race of military men, as with nations like Germany and Japan it was a word and a blow."

The yellow race, he said, were going to demand equality of treatment. Japan was at present Great Britain's ally, but that would only last as long as the British alliance was worth having.

MacKenzie & Mann in Steel Business

Port Arthur, Ont.—Acting for MacKenzie and Mann and an English syndicate, J. Dix Fraser, manager of the Atleocan Iron company, and the MacKenzie and Mann concern have submitted to the city a proposition for the establishment here of a five million dollar steel plant.

The city will give a site of 400 acres at Bare Point, and a fixed assessment for 20 years of $50,000, except for school and local improvement taxes.

Mr. Fraser estimates that in the iron ore areas, of which MacKenzie and Mann has control, and for which they are seeking development, is ore enough to keep a steel plant running for 175 years.

Those include the Atleocan, Moose Mountain and Nipigon areas. The proposed industry is to employ 2,000 men.

Says Railways Must Toe the Mark.

Ottawa.—In regard to the rumor that the enforcement of the recent decision of the railway commission in the Regina case would be deferred until after the forthcoming investigation by the commission, with a view to determine an equitable basis for the whole scale of railway rates in the West, Commissioner McLean stated that no order has gone out to stay the Regina rates order, nor is any such order likely to be made. The Railways as ordered will have to file new tariffs on or before April 1, doing away with all discrimination.

C. P. R. May Get Line Into Boston

Portland, Maine.—A report was current here recently that the Canadian Pacific Railway had planned to checkmate the efforts of the Grand Trunk to enter Boston to gain control of the Allan Line of the trans-Atlantic steamships and building a new line of railroad to connect with its present terminal at Newport, and to run directly into Boston. The report is that the Canadian Pacific had purchased a controlling interest in the Allan Line.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL

LESSON V.—FIRST QUARTER, FOR FEB. 4, 1912.

Text of the Lesson, Matt. ii, 1-12. Memory Verses, 1, 2—Golden Text, Isa. xlv, 22—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

Although it is but a few weeks since we had this portion as a Christmas lesson, we come to it again with great desire to know more intimately Him of whom it speaks, Jesus, King of the Jews, that we may worship Him as He says we should and as the Father desires, "in spirit and in truth" (John iv, 23). Remember His own words in the wilderness, "Thou shalt worship the Lord thy God, and Him only shalt thou serve" (chapter iv, 10); also the words of the heavenly messenger to John in Patmos when he fell down to worship at his feet, "See thou do it not; * * * worship God" (Rev. xix, 19; xxii, 9). Mere mouth and lip worship He hates and all that is taught by commandments of men (chapter xv, 7-9; Isa. i, 13, 14; xxix, 14). It is the heart that He has regard to. He searcheth the heart and tries the reins and desires truth in the inward parts (I Sam. xvi, 7; Jer. xvii, 10).

In these days the Lord Jesus Christ is very little spoken of or thought of as King of the Jews, and the church as a whole has no use for Israel as a nation and does not want to hear of the return of Christ, seemingly having no place in her faith for the words of the prophet who predicted His birth at Bethlehem, and spoke of Him as "a governor that shall rule my people Israel" (Isaiah verse 6; Mic. v, 2). Nathaniel spoke of Him as "the Son of God, the King of Israel," and Zephaniah in prophetic vision saw Him as "the King of Israel, even Jehovah, in the midst of Jerusalem" (John i, 49; Zeph. iii, 14, 15). Oh, for such vision now and the zeal and devotion of these wise men from the east! The same city Jerusalem, to which they came seeking Him in order to worship Him shall yet be His throne, and all the nations shall be gathered unto it to the name of the Lord, to Jerusalem (Jer. iii, 17). Then shall the Lord stain the pride of all glory and bring into contempt all the honorable of the earth. He shall smite many nations as their kings shall see and consider that which they had not heard, and thereafter, they will be glad to bring their wealth to Israel and show forth the praises of the Lord (Isa. xlii, 9; iii, 16, R. V. margin; ix, 5, 6). Then shall all such as Herod have some cause to be troubled, for all kings and mighty men as well as people in ordinary life shall call to mountains and rocks to fall on them and hide them from the face of Him on the throne and from the wrath of the Lamb (Rev. vi, 15-17). It is in reference to that time that we have the exhortation, "Be wise now, therefore, O, ye kings; * * * kiss the Son lest * * * ye perish" (Ps. ii, 10-12). What a long conflict it has been since it started in Eden; how much the saints have suffered and still suffer, and children, too, because of the hatred of the great adversary, the murderer, the father of lies, the devil. Who would not pray that the kingdom of righteousness might come and the adversary be banished from the air and the earth? Can we wonder that the great King has said that He will not rest until it come to pass that we are not to rest nor give Him rest until it come (Isa. xxxii, 1, 17; Ps. lxxii, 1-7). If all believers were right with God, seeking first His kingdom, worshipping Him with their treasures as these wise men did, would there not be an abundance of men and money to carry the gospel everywhere?

The vast majority of so-called believers seem to be asleep, utterly indifferent to the worldwide opportunities. Neither the gospel, nor He of whom it tells can fail (Isa. xlii, 4; lv, 11). The church will be completed, but who can tell how much we may be hindering? It is high time to awake, to arise from the dead things and people all about us and become spirit filled to buy up the opportunities. Like aged Simeon, these men recognized the young child as the king whom they had come to worship. What a contrast between them and the man who sold the Lord Jesus Christ to His enemies for thirty pieces of silver! What is your estimate of Him? Is a bit of this world's pleasure or treasure more to you than He is, or is He to you the altogether lovely one? Do you spend little on yourself compared with what you would give to Him? How far would you gladly journey to make Him known to others? At least twelve times in this gospel it is written "that it might be fulfilled" or "then was fulfilled" (i, 22; ii, 15, 17, 23; iv, 14; vii, 12; xii, 17; xlii, 46; xli, 4; xxvi, 56; xxvii, 9, 35), reminding us of His own words after His resurrection, "All things must be fulfilled which were written * * * concerning Me" (Luke xxiv, 44). I believe that our devotion to Him will be in proportion to our confidence in Him as the fulfiller and fulfillment of all Scripture. If He is to us not only our Saviour from the wrath to come and our deliverer from the power of present sin, but also a real King, King of kings and Lord of lords, as well as King of Israel, assuring us that we may sit with Him in His throne and reign with Him over the earth (Rev. iii, 21; v, 9, 10), how can we help being so inspired by the kingdom and the glory to which He has called us as to be blind and deaf to all but Himself? Thus it was with Paul and Peter and John, with Abraham and Moses and others.

Red Sea Blockade

Rome.—A blockade has been officially declared at the Turkish coast on the Red sea from Ras of Isa Hodeida, to Ras of Goulal.

MANY ENGLISH FOR CANADA

Present Year to be Record One for Emigration—Bookings Already Large.

London, Eng.—The present year promises to be a record one for emigration from Great Britain to Canada, for although the movement does not commence until the beginning of March, the various steamship lines already report heavy bookings for the spring months, and the subject is being more enthusiastically discussed than ever, particularly in rural districts.

Increase in emigration points to prosperity in Canada itself, for a large proportion of emigrants are induced to leave this country, not by pamphlets or reports they read here so much as by the advice of friends who have preceded them, and who write or speak of personal experience.

OBORNE GOES TO COAST

C. P. R. Superintendent at Toronto Transferred to Vancouver

Toronto, Ont.—James Osborne, for five years Canadian Pacific Railway general superintendent, with headquarters at Toronto, has been transferred to a similar position as head of the Pacific division at Vancouver and expects to leave with his household in about three weeks. No successor has yet been named for the Ontario middle division.

Mr. Osborne has a record of over 25 years in the C.P.R. during which time he has been general superintendent of nearly every division.

GLOBE WILL PUBLISH LETTER

Thousand Words to Explain Away Editorial About the Great Waterways

Toronto, Ont.—Messrs. Aylesworth, Wright, Moss and Thomson, as solicitors for the Alberta and Great Waterways Railway, and W. R. Clarke have written to the Globe, claiming that an editorial appearing on January 18, under the caption "A Very Dangerous Proposal," was false and libelous, and the whole tenor of the article in question was a grossly unfair presentation of the position of the controversy. The firm asked the publication of a one thousand word letter setting forth the conditions of their clients, to which request the Globe accedes.

RICH STRIKE MADE IN B. C.

Samples Assay $600 in Gold Alone—Greatest Rush Since 'Seventies

Nelson, B. C.—The striking of ore in a new tunnel at Moyle, from which samples assay $600 in gold alone, besides copper, silver and other metals, has caused a stampede which is the liveliest known in that district since the early 'seventies. Although there are two feet of snow on the ground, parties may be seen all over the mountains staking claims. The discovery is close to where four million dollars in gold was taken out in the 'seventies, and within rifle-shot of the famous Steegen mine, just across the lake from the town.

Royal Betrothal Now Denied

Berlin.—The report of betrothal of Princess Victoria Louise, only daughter of Emperor William, to Grand Duke Adolf Frederick of Mecklenburg-Strelitz, is semi-officially denied.

FRENCH ATTITUDE EXPLAINED

Answer to Demands Will be Given by Italian Minister

Rome.—The French charge d'affaires, M. Legrand, in an interview with the Italian foreign minister, Marquis Di Sanguilliano explained fully the French attitude and insisted upon the release of the Turks. The foreign minister promised to consider the points put before him and will reply after a consultation with the minister. It was expected that nothing would be done until after the arrival of the French ambassador, Camille Barrère. The interview between the charge d'affaires and the foreign minister is taken as an indication of a desire on both sides to reach a quick settlement.

WORLD PEACE STRENGTHENED

Arbitration Treaty With Argentine Signed at Washington

Washington, D. C.—World peace was strengthened by the signing recently of a general arbitration in Washington between the Argentine Republic and the United States of Columbia.

The treaty, which is almost exactly like those negotiated by the United States and Great Britain and France, was signed by Rumulo Naon for Argentina, and General Pedro Nelospina for Columbia, ministers from those countries to the United States.

Women More Honest Than Men

London, Eng.—One of the strongest points in the argument against the grant of the suffrage to women is the fact that in the United Kingdom women outnumber men, and that to give them the vote would mean handing the government of the country over to them, a revolution that anti-suffragists say would be too serious to contemplate.

An official estimate of males and females of 25 years and over in the United Kingdom, excluding aliens, paupers and other persons disqualified for enrollment as parliamentary voters places the number of males at 10,107,000 and that of the females at 11,319,000 in 1912 and by 1916 it is estimated that the numbers would be 10,480,000 and 11,729,000 respectively.

Self Destruction in United States

Washington, D. C.—Self destruction in 1910 in the United States was carried out to the extent of 16 per 100,000 of population, according to the detailed particulars which have been gathered by the vital statistics. The following essays have scored the highest marks in the competition on the subject "Drawing of a cheque" given last Friday afternoon by Mr. H. E. Shenfield. It must be stated that they are now printed with corrections as made by the examiner, and that in the allocation of the marks the practical work of the scholars on blank cheques illustrating the chief topics of the lecture was duly considered.

JENNIE SHENFIELD'S

A cheque is an order on the bank. One of the most important things is the filling of the stub or counterfoil. The next is the date and month. The date should be put before the month, so that the date and the year do not get mixed.

The word bearer should be crossed out and order written across the top. This is so if the cheque gets lost and the word Bearer is not crossed out the finder can cash it; but if the word bearer is crossed out an order put on no one can cash it who finds it without endorsing.

The number of dollars should be written in words close to the left hand corner. If the number of dollars is written near the middle anyone could add more figures on. A line should be drawn across so that no figures can be added in the front or back.

If there are no cents two naughts are put before the dollar, over one hundred. A cross is just as good. The figures should be put at the bottom as well as the top and near together so that no dishonest man can add any figures. The signature should also be signed at the bottom.

The signature should be signed the same as in the register book in the bank. The name should be signed by whom the money is payable.

The bank is responsible if a figure is raised if the forgery is apparent. A bank cheque is transferable. If a man's name does not compare with the name in the register then the bank is responsible.

No man is forced to accept a cheque unless he wants to. A cheque is not legal tender.

A cheque may be used as a receipt. A cheque is endorsed and signed by the man whom it is payable to.

CATHERINE CAMPBELL'S

A person wishing to deal with a certain bank must first go to that bank and sign his name in the bank register. He may then give his money in charge of this bank, for which he receives a small book which shows that he has the sum which he put in the bank to his credit.

The bank furnishes him a blank cheque.

This man wishing to pay a person or party, with the money he has in the bank, makes a cheque payable to the person whom he wishes to pay.

The man fills in his stub or counterfoil first, putting the corresponding number of the cheque on his stub. He then begins to fill in his cheque first putting on the date.

The custom now adopted by business men is to put the date of the month first and then the month followed by the year, otherwise the date of the month might be misunderstood; for instance, Feb. 11th nineteen hundred and twelve might be taken for Feb. eleven nine hundred and twelve.

You next write the name of the person to whom you wish to pay the money. The bank usually writes "or bearer". This is done as a protection to the bank, as in this case anybody might cash this cheque without endorsing it, therefore it is safer to stroke out "bearer" and write order above bearer. If this is done the person to whom it is made payable must endorse his name, therefore if the cheque be lost it will not be of use to the finder without endorsement.

You next write in words the number of dollars you wish the man to receive, beginning at the beginning of the line and then drawing a line through to the word dollars. In case of cents write the number of cents followed by only, drawing a line under the cents. The cents may also be put over one hundred at dollars. If there are no cents it is well to put two ciphers over the one hundred or daaw an X through it.

In the lower left hand corner write the figures close to the dollar sign. If there are no cents write two small ciphers underlined by two small lines. In a case of having cents write them in the same manner as the cipher taking care to leave no space for another figure in front or behind it.

If a figure be written clumsily in front or behind the bank is responsible, or if a man's name be forged being written badly and does not compare in the register the bank is responsible.

A cheque is not legal tender and a man can not be forced to receive a cheque as a payment of a debt.

A cheque may be used as a receipt by writing for colt branded etc. etc. after the money.

A cheque may be transferable by the person writing on the back pay Kenneth Hayes or name of person you wish to pay and sign your name. If the cheque is made to order Kenneth Hayes must sign his name under before receiving the money. If you wish the cheque payable only through the Merchants bank, Olds, you draw two lines through the cheque and write between them Merchants bank, Olds. It can then only be recognized through that bank writing pay cash and your name: it can then be paid as an endorsing cheque.

You must always sign your name at the bottom of the cheque in the same way.

LOIS RUTLEDGE'S

A cheque is an order on the bank and is one of the most important things concerned in business transactions. The first thing to do when making out a cheque is to fill in the stub at the side. Then write the date correctly. Taking Feb. 5 as the date it is found to be much easier and we are less apt to make a mistake by writing 5, Feb.

Heaving the Log

"Heaving the Log" is one of those picturesque phrases of natural literature which is only hazily understood by the land lubber. The "log" is a quadrilateral-shaped piece of wood loaded with lead at the curve. The line to which it is attached is 120 fathoms long and is divided by knots into equal distances of 47 feet each. Two distances are the same fraction of a nautical mile (a knot) as 28 seconds is of one hour. Consequently the number of knots that slip off a reel in 28 seconds after the log is in the water is the speed per hour that the ship is making.

When she was dying Mrs. Story entered the room, to find the fireplace barricaded with a large assortment of bed-linen. She was having her winding-sheet warned.

"I never have lain in damp bedclothes while I was alive," said the old lady in a feeble whisper, "and I'm not going to do it when I'm dead."

AN OPEN LETTER

FROM A WELL KNOWN CLERGYMAN SHOWING HOW INDIGESTION CAN BE CURED

Rev. T. A. Drury, Beamsville, Ont., writes as follows:—"For eighteen years I have been increasingly impressed with the wonderful effects for good wrought by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. For some years I had suffered almost constantly with chronic dyspepsia of the most stubborn type, attended by different other troubles which invariably follow or accompany it as its results, prominent among which were kidney trouble and piles. Against this complication of diseases I waged a vigorous warfare for several months, using many different remedies, none of which gave permanent relief. In my discouragement I was about to discontinue treatment altogether when I was advised by a friend to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, the use of which, though under very unfavorable circumstances, soon revived my drooping courage. The medicine struck at the root of my weakness and the different troubles of which dyspepsia was the prime cause released, let go, and disappeared. In one month I increased fifteen pounds in weight and received a new lease of life. Only six boxes of pills produced this wonderful change in my health, which was miraculously permanent."

"Later my sister became so reduced by anaemia (though under the care of our family doctor) that she could scarcely walk. In this dangerous extremity Dr. Williams' Pink Pills were resorted to and in a brief space of time restored her to perfect health. "Being a minister of the gospel, many test cases have come under my notice, in all of which Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have fully sustained their world wide reputation. This is why I can conscientiously recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills as being superior to anything known to me in the treatment of many diseases for which they are recommended."

"What is the difference between valor and discretion?" remarked Mrs. Brown, looking up from the paper in which she had been reading a leading article on the operations in Tripoli.

"And discretion?"

"Is doing it over the telephone."

Sudden Changes Many Colds

And Colds Are the Starting Point of Serious Diseases

You Can Make Short Work of a Cold by Using

DR. CHASE'S SYRUP OF LINSEED AND TURPENTINE

Sudden changes of temperature are fatal in results. The shock to the human system is more than most people can stand, and everywhere you hear sneezing and coughing.

You may be sure that some of these colds will develop into pneumonia or consumption. Others will settle on the kidneys, and result in serious disease or bring on rheumatic or bodily pains.

The danger is in letting colds run on. By beginning promptly with Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine and taking small doses frequently you can keep the cough loose, check the inflammation, and soon rid the system entirely of the cold, and all the many possibilities for evil which it possesses.

Don't think that anything is good enough for a cold. There are lots of cough mixtures. But if you want a standard medicine of proven merit, something that you can depend on in time of sickness, you will be satisfied with Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine.

Children like it. Being composed of simple ingredients, it is particularly suited to their needs. Its enormous sales prove its effectiveness: 25 cents a bottle, family size 60 cents, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

School Lecture

On Friday afternoon last the first of a series of lectures under the auspices of the trustees was given in the Public school before a moderate crowd. Mr. H. Armitstead briefly outlined the scheme of the trustees, and called on Mr. H. E. Shenfield to deliver his address on the "Drawing of a cheque." The lecturer in a most lucid and interesting manner explained the true way of drawing up a cheque. He pointed out the common errors of careless business people and the liabilities of such methods. In a pleasing way he touched upon banking law and the responsibilities both of the bank and the depositor—hints which were truly important and valuable. At the close of his lecture he asked for questions which he freely and adequately answered.

Mr. Shenfield gave his lecture in a bright spirited form. His language was clear, concise and convincing, and his illustrations very apt. He held the attention of the audience from start to finish.

On Friday next at 3 p. m. Mr. Shenfield will give a live talk on the Writing of a "Business Letter." The public are cordially invited.

1912. You next write the name of the name of the person to whom the cheque is to be paid and instead of leaving "or bearer" on the cheque cross it out and write order. This is a safer way because if the cheque should be lost no one could cash it without endorsement. In the next space the amount of money for which the cheque is made out is written in words an important thing in writing this out is to begin the word as near to the side of cheque as possible then draw a line after the word; this to prevent the increasing of the value of the cheque.

Write the numbers in the next space beside the dollar sign, and sign your name in the place left for the signature. You should always sign your name the same way as you wrote it on the bank register.

A cheque can be transferred by the person to whom it is made out to by writing the persons name that the cheque is to be transferred to by the Drawee signing his name underneath on the back of the cheque.

A cheque can be used as a receipt by writing what the money is paid for on the line drawn after the written figures. A cheque can be used as a bill of sale.

The bank is not responsible for a forged cheque, if it has been so cleverly done as to not be easily detected. If otherwise the bank is responsible.

Burned White Elephant!

On Tuesday night a large crowd assembled to witness a fire in the Penhold Methodist Church, when the President of the Alberta Conference burned the mortgage which had been a serious burden for some years. A grand banquet was served by the Ladies Aid and the various Toasts were responded to by Revs. A. Barner, R. Pearson, F. Davies, G. Grant and the resident pastor J. Place. Several Laymen also took part. Mrs. Davies contributed vocal selections and the doxology was heartily sung whilst the flames devoured the last remnant of debt on Penhold Church.
